

Moeve and Bankinter launch the 'Moeve gow' Mastercard, offering the highest fuel savings on the market

- 'Moeve gow' customers who use the new card will save 15 cents per liter on fuel and 7 cents per kWh on electric charging

The new 'Moeve gow' Mastercard, available to customers in Spain, brings a wide range of discounts and benefits for cardholders, thanks to the partnership between Moeve and Bankinter.

Bankinter Consumer Finance General Manager Alfonso Saez commented, "Partnering with a company like Moeve in the payment solutions space is a guarantee of customer growth in a dynamic consumption sector. It also enables us to strengthen our growing business by collaborating with leading companies. Our goal is to become a key player in critical consumer sectors and a reference in payment methods."

Pierre-Yves Sachet, Director of Mobility at Moeve, emphasized, "Bankinter is a strategic partner who shares our customer-focused vision. We understand the importance of savings on essential products like fuel and electric charging for our customers, so we will continue to focus on delivering the most competitive offers with the best premium customer experience."

To access the discounts, customers must join the 'Moeve gow' Club, a quick and easy digital process. They can request the card starting April 10 at any Moeve service station or online at Moeve.es. Once registered, the card will allow customers to save 15 cents per liter on fuel in 'Moeve gow' credit, the largest savings currently offered on the market.

Additional benefits include 7 cents discount per kWh on electric charging and an 8 cents discount for every euro spent in-store or on car washes at service stations. Customers can also earn 0.3% cashback on purchases made at other establishments. All savings, both in discounts and cashback, accumulate as 'Moeve gow' credit, which customers can use to pay at service stations.
