

Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement.

UK Modern Slavery Act 2015

Introduction from the Administrator, Mr. Miguel Ángel Devesa

CEPSA QUIMICA, S.A. (hereinafter “CEPSA QUIMICA” or “the Company”) always aim to go one step further. That’s why the Company doesn’t just have solid values and act in an ethical way, but also has the relevant policies in place to assure we fulfil sector regulations.

CEPSA QUIMICA is committed to improve its practices to combat slavery and human trafficking. Cepsa Group in general and the Company in particular, take every care not to employ, either directly or through contractors, anyone under the age of 16, and does not tolerate any form of child labour or any type of forced labour or exploitation.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 31 December 2022.

This statement is made in respect of CEPSA QUIMICA, S.A. (Spanish incorporation)

CEPSA QUIMICA is a provider of petrochemical products in the phenol and solvents sector. The Company is a part of the Cepsa Group, an integrated company operating across the entire oil and gas value chain. Mubadala Investment Company, PJSC (61,4%) and The Carlyle Group, INC (38,4%) are the Company’s ultimate shareholders. Close to 10,000 experts from across the world make it possible relying on our values of safety, sustainability, continuous improvement, leadership, and solidarity. Cepsa Group is working on a progressive internalization and is present in 21 countries across Europe, North America, Latin America, Africa and Asia.

CEPSA QUIMICA is a solid and transparent company with an annual revenue of €33,446 million in 2022 (Cepsa Group).

CEPSA QUIMICA’s business

CEPSA QUIMICA’s chemicals facilities (owned direct or indirectly by the Company) are located in Spain, Canada, Brazil, Nigeria and China and oleochemical facilities are located in Indonesia and Germany.

The Company's products have several uses, including as raw material for detergents, resins, electronic parts, synthetic fibres and pharmaceutical products, among others.

CEPSA QUIMICA and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Cepsa UK Ltd., sale basic chemical products and derivatives in the UK market.

CEPSA QUIMICA is committed with research, development and innovation to guarantee the sustainability of the industry and the quality of its products. The Company is present in the everyday lives of millions of people and in the value chain of virtually every industrial sector. It is strategically committed to circular economy criteria to rationalise the use of inputs in order to build a more sustainable, efficient and just world.

CEPSA QUIMICA is the world-leading producer of LAB (linear alkylbenzene) and the number-two global producer of phenol/acetate, underpinned by its technological leadership in both cases.

CEPSA QUIMICA's supply chains

Cepsa Group works with close to 3,300 suppliers, which represent an outlay of €1,173 M in payments. A large part of its business takes place in Spain and, therefore, the aim of the Company is contracting with local suppliers in order to contribute to the development of companies that accompany us in our operations. For locations around the world where the company has significant operations, the source was approximately 87% from domestic suppliers. Specifically, 35% of the total expense was purchased from suppliers based locally.

A key commitment of the Company's Sustainable Procurement Policy is to promote the best practices in the purchase and contracting of goods and services through responsible and sustainable management. Cepsa Group's Supplier Code of Ethics and Conduct furthers its commitment to ethics and transmitting values. The Company's specific procurement requirements are standardised and laid down into the General Contracting Terms and contractual models and must be accepted by any third party that does business with the Company during both the registration and the various tender award stages.

CEPSA QUIMICA stresses to all our suppliers the importance of good ESG performance in their own operations and of requiring similar standards within their own supply chains.

The Company uses an analytical process to identify specific areas requiring action and help forge partnerships to drive collaborative innovation and embed ESG criteria in decision-making.

CEPSA QUIMICA's policies on slavery and human trafficking

CEPSA QUIMICA is committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in its supply chains or in any part of our business. The Company's Human Rights Policy reflects its commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all its business relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure slavery and human trafficking is not taking place anywhere in its supply chains.

In addition to complying with the applicable laws of each country where it operates, and consistent with the Code of Ethics and Conduct, the Cepsa Group's Policy on Human Rights is in accordance with international laws and practices such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of the United Nations, the Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work of the International Labour Organisation (ILO), and the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises and taking into account what is set forth in the National Action Plan for Businesses and Human Rights of the Government of Spain, approved on July 28, 2017.

It applies to managers, directors and employees of the Cepsa Group, as well as its business partners, with regard to human rights and labour practices in all areas and communities where the Company operate.

The Cepsa Group expects and encourages its business partners to develop and implement ethics programs and standards that are aligned with the Company ones. In cases where CEPSA QUIMICA believes that such parties have failed to comply with its policies or their contractual commitments, it reserves itself the right to take the appropriate action.

CEPSA QUIMICA employees are responsible for ensuring the Company's integrity. Therefore, if a possible breach of the Code of Ethics and Conduct is detected, related to internal or external rules, each employee has an obligation to report it as promptly as possible through the available Helplines.

CEPSA QUIMICA will not tolerate any form of retaliation aimed at anyone who raises a concern in good faith about a possible breach of the Code of Ethics and Conduct or internal or external rules. No retaliation shall be allowed against anyone who assists in an investigation into Non-compliance either.

On the other hand, persons who fail to comply with the Company's Code and Policies may be putting the Company at risk and as a result, may be subject to disciplinary action or penalties.

Each violation of the Policies and Code of Conduct is reviewed on a case-by-case basis and, where necessary, the appropriate disciplinary and corrective measures are applied in accordance with corporate policies and procedures and applicable laws.

Due diligence processes for slavery and human trafficking

The Compliance and Ethics Operating Committee which consists of representatives from the following departments:

- Internal Audit, Compliance & Risk
- Legal
- Communications, Institutional Relations and Brand Marketing
- Health, Security, Safety, Environment and Quality
- Human Resources & Organization
- Finance & Administration,

Shall periodically review the applicable Policies and submit recommendations to the Board of Directors regarding any amendments or revisions as may be necessary or advisable to ensure its adequacy and effectiveness, taking into consideration the suggestions and input of the Ethics & Compliance Office and Cepsa Group employees.

CEPSA QUIMICA has a dedicated compliance team, the Ethics & Compliance Office, to carry out the adequate Due Diligence processes who shall ensure effective oversight, monitoring and control to identify any actions or behaviours that violate the standards and principles of the Human Rights Policy and the Code of Conduct.

As part of our initiative to identify and mitigate risk we have in place systems to:

- Identify and assess potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Mitigate the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring in our supply chains.
Monitor potential risk areas in our supply chains.
- Protect whistle blowers.

Supplier adherence to our values and ethics

CEPSA QUIMICA has zero tolerance to slavery and human trafficking. To ensure all those in our supply chain and contractors comply with its values, CEPSA QUIMICA requires them to have in place a rigorous supply chain compliance programme.

When selecting our suppliers, the Company:

- Gives preference, in its due diligence and selection processes, to suppliers and contractors having their own human rights policies or, in their absence, those that support the principles of the Cepsa Group Code of Ethics and Conduct.
- Requires its supply chain to formally adhere to the “Cepsa Group Suppliers Code of Ethics”, or to have adopted the principles embodied in the UN Global Compact.
- Establishes the appropriate communication channels with its suppliers and contractors that enable actual or potential breaches and violations to be reported.
- Demands respect for international principles and rules on the use of force, in particular the “International Code of Conduct for Private Security Service Providers” (www.icoc-ssp.org) considering that some activities of the Cepsa Group are conducted in high-risk and challenging environments that require the hiring of state-owned or private security companies.

Training

To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in the Company’s supply chains and business, CEP SA QUIMICA provides training to its employees.

CEPSA QUIMICA has an ethics and compliance training program, which includes Human Rights issues.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement for the financial year ending December 31, 2022.

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Miguel Ángel Devesa', is written over a set of horizontal lines.

Miguel Ángel Devesa

DIRECTOR
CEPSA QUIMICA, S.A. _ Date: 28 June 2023